About VEDA

Vedic Education and Development Academy (VEDA) is a public benefit non-profit charity organization. VEDA was started in August 2007 to fulfill the needs of the community, to celebrate festivals and rituals following the agamic tradition. With enthusiastic support from the community, Sri Venkateswara Temple was started in October 2009. We purchased our own facility in 2018 – while it is a significant milestone in just 10 years, we have exciting plans ahead, to make it an iconic temple with authentic rituals.

Temples have always been pivotal institutions in protecting and preserving the great values of our ancient heritage. VEDA recognizes this big role and has not only been catering to the religious needs of the community but also has provided great fillip and inspiration for the continuity and development of our cultural, social and educational values in the area.

2021 Year at a glance

Although the pandemic continued to wreak havoc on our daily operations and plans, VEDA has successfully completed the prathishta of our moola moorthies. This is a significant achievement for any temple, leave alone during the pandemic. Our Venkateswara is the largest in USA and is just short of the moola moorty at Tirumala Tirupati. Exquisitely sculpted Padmavati and Aandal along with a 5' tall Shiva Lingam and Parvati are consecrated as well.

We have continued to serve the community while pivoting to online services, provided full priest services for all functions and conducted all major events with full pomp and splendor. Mahashivaratri, Upakarma, Ganesh Chaturthi, Navaratri, Deepavali (with fireworks), Rathotsavam, Ayyappa Mandala Puja and Dhanur Masa Seva are examples of the resiliency and resolve of our community. VEDA thanks the selfless service by volunteers & priests in making the events a success. We thank devotees for staying safe and not coming to temple when sick – we didn't have to close the temple anytime!

VEDA Temple sincerely appreciates the patronage from many generous donors who have been instrumental in the growth of the temple since inception. Their donations have had profound influence in making VEDA Temple the nucleus of religious and cultural activities in the community and has etched the temple's name in the community. For the first time, in 2021, we now have donors who have donated more than $100K! Please continue to donate generously.

Looking Forward to 2022

Our goal for the next year is to work with architects/shilpis to finalize the design for an iconic temple in the area. Watch for exciting announcements in the coming months with preliminary designs for your input and associated activities.

The current goals of the temple envision greater commitment to cater to the supportive society that has helped us grow over these years. And we require your sustained financial support to realize these goals. The temple has set up various endowments to make sure a stable and secure commitment for uninterrupted services. Making an endowment to a temple has been considered an act of religious merit. Please sign up for an endowment scheme that you connect with!

Thai Poosam

Lord Subramanya received the "Vel" (lance) from His mother, Parvathi on Thai Poosam. Subramanya used the lance to vanquish the demon Surapadma. The festival is marked by Kavadi to Lord Subramanya, by carrying various offerings on one's shoulder. The types of Kavadi typically carried are milk, rose water and flowers. It is also common to offer pots of milk, honey & tender coconut water. Celebrate with kavadi & palkudam at VEDA: www.vedatemple.org/thaipoosam.

Pradosha Abhishekam & Its Origin

The evening of the thirteenth day of the moon is Pradosha when Shiva is worshipped with an abhishekam of many dravyas, during the evening hours, around sunset time.

By performing an abhishekam one cleanses himself of all impurities. The deity is nitya-shuddha, ever pure and does not require a bath. It is for the sake of the worshipper that the abhisheka is performed. This Agamic ritual is a powerful ritual to cool down and remove the sufferings of the worshipper. Pradosha abhishekam yields the four fold objectives of life – righteousness, wealth, pleasures and liberation.

As the Devas and Asuras churned the milky ocean, on an Ekadasi day, Vasuki, the serpent, out of fatigue, spit out the terrible poison, Halahala. To rescue them, Lord Shiva drank the poison and advised them to churn further. When the poison was out of their way, the Devas and Asuras resumed churning and obtained 14 gems and finally, the Amrutha (nectar) of the twelfth day of the moon, Dwadasi. Having got the nectar, ecstatically they danced and forgot to thank Shiva who had paved way for the nectar, by drinking the poison. The next day, on Trayodashi, the Devas begged Shiva for forgiveness and thanked Him. Shiva forgave them and performed Ananda Tandava in joy, between the bulls of his vahana, Nandhi. This was believed to have occurred at Pradosha Kaala. It is believed that Shiva fulfills the desires of all devotees who pray during Pradosha Kaala and grants mukthi.

Rudrabhisheka is performed in full fervor at VEDA, every Pradosham day. Annual sponsorships available. To participate in Pradosha Abhisheka: www.vedatemple.org/pradosham

Bhagavathi Seva

VEDA Temple takes pride in being one of the very few temples in the US to conduct Bhagavathi Seva, a Devi worship ritual as mentioned in Tantra. The ritual requires the priest to have special initiation for the conduct of this pooja. While even in India, not many priests are proficient with this know-how, VEDA Temple is proud to have Shri. Girish Sharma initiated in this powerful Devi worship.

Bhagavathi Sevai is both a "Prayaschitta" (performed for "dosha-nivritti" or for relief from several "doshas") and "Paushtika" (performed for any intended welfare) pooja, performed at the "Sandhya Kalam" or at twilight. A special "Padmam" (the seat for Devi) is drawn by the initiated priest and with a few lit lamps, the priest, through Tantra Shastra, destroys his karmic body and reaches the subtle elements to invoke Devi in himself. The body of the priest becomes the body of Devi. He raises the Devi across all the chakras and seats Her in the Sahasrara Padmam and then transfers the Devi to the Padmam that he has drawn. The Devi in the Padmam is worshipped with all Upachara Poojas, using a certain combination of fragrant flowers (Shipped from India), Veda Mantras, Lalitha Sahasranamam, Devi Mahatmyam and Lalita Trishathi. This pleases Devi and She showers the divine nectar from the Sahasrara Padmam and this nectar is sprinkled on all the devotees. This creates a divine aura around the place and is a sight to behold. The priest then takes back the Devi into himself and lets Her melt into his body.

Navaratri

Devi is worshipped for a period of 9 days with a Kumkuma Archana of Lalitha Sahasranama, a hymn that is so special to the Devi, composed by the Vag Devis at Her behest. A special feature of this festival is the worship of Suvasinis (married women) and Kanyas (young girls from 2-10 years of age) by offering clothes and other Mangala Vastus. Suvasini and Kanya Pooja removes the ill effects of curses of in the family and gives long life and peace to the performer.

Panchanga Shravanam on Yugadi & Tamil New Year

At the beginning of the new year, it has been a time-honored tradition to listen to a priest reading the Panchanga (Almanac/Calendar). This is called Panchanga Shravanam. The five limbs of the Panchanga are Thithi, Vara, Nakshatra, Yoga & Karana. A glimpse of the likely events in the year, helps us to prepare for the year ahead of us. Panchanga Shravana removes the ill-effects of bad dreams, confers merits of Ganga Snanam, Go-Dana, increases lifespan and begets good natured children.

Srinivasa Kalyanam

Kalyana Utsavams or the marriage ceremonies of various Gods are performed at our temple for our welfare – Yoga-Kshemam. Yoga refers to obtaining what we do not have and kshemam refers to retaining what we have. Both these are within our reach if Kalyana Utsavams are performed to the Lord.

Based on the advice by Brhaspati, Srinivasa Kalyanam was performed on Vaishakha Masa Shukla Dashami (when Uthra Phalguni was the ruling star) on a Friday.

It is considered a divine gift to assume the role of the “kanyadatas” or parents of Lord Srinivasa and Goddess Padmavathi, the divine parents of the world and perform their marriage. This is recognized as the most auspicious service rendered to the Lord.

In the Vimanarchana Kalpam, Sage Marichi details the fruits of conducting Lord Srinivasa’s Kalyanam. Those who serve Srinivasa with Sridevi and Bhudevi during the Kalyana Utsavam will be purged of their sins instantly. Besides, their ancestors and progeny for ten generations (both maternal and paternal) will be cleansed of their sins. The women thrive with long life of their husbands. At the end they all attain the sacred world of Vishnu.

VEDA conducts Srinivasa Kalyanam every month to bring this opportunity to all devotees to sponsor and partake in the blessings of Lord Venkateswara. To register:

Navaratri

VEDA celebrates Navaratri with full fervor, with exquisite alankaras for each day. Pure silk sarees are designed specifically for VEDA deities and procured from India for this occasion. Devotees are invited to sponsor silk sarees used for alankaram – the sarees are given back, as the Vastralankara seva bahumanam, after the alankara nirmalya, along with puja prasadam.

Importance of Amavasya Tarpanam

Amavasya is the day when the sun and the moon are together. A month in the BhooLoka (15 days of Shukla Paksha and Krishna Paksha) is a day in Pitru Loka. When we offer tarpanam to deceased ancestors, once a month, on Amavasya, it amounts to offering food every day to them.

Offering Tarpanam on Amavasya has a special significance. A day amounts to 60 ghatikas. Our 30-day period amounts to 60 ghatikas (1 day) for the Pitrus. Hence, our day is 2 ghatikas for them (48 minutes). If Shukla Prathama (the day just after Amavasya) is the beginning of daytime for the Pitrus, the Amavasya Tarpanam had happened just 48 minutes prior to their daybreak at 5:12 am (assuming a 6 am sunrise for them), which happens to be Brahma Muhrtha for them. An offering of sesame seeds and water at such an auspicious time confers great merits for us and our progeny.

Upakarma

Shravana nakshatra in Shravana masa is observed as Rg Upakarma while Shravana Poornima is observed as Yajur Upakarma. VEDA provides upakarma services with homam and full fervor. Register at www.vedatemple.org/upakarma

Upakarma is to be performed in the late morning hours. As part of Upakarma, Khandarishi Tarpanam is performed to honor 9 rishis who were Veda mantra dhrishtas. Although this is called Tarpanam, there is no stipulation to avoid heavy dinner (as in case of Pitru Tarpanam) since the occasion occurs on Poornima for Yajur Vedhis, it is advised to avoid a heavy dinner and a light "Palaharam" is recommended on Upakarma. Such light meal also serves to prepare the body as "poorvanga" for the next day's Gayatri Japam.

Gayatri Japam

The day after Shravana Poornima is celebrated Gayatri Japam day. Gayatri Homam is performed by all men (who belong to Rg, Yajur & Sama Veda) who had completed the Upakarma, the day before. Those unable to perform Homam alone chant Gayatri mantra 1008 times. Gayatri Homam relieves one of the lies that has been said for a year (so says Dharma Sutram). It is advised to perform this Japam/Homam on an empty stomach. VEDA does homam every year with all samagiri specially procured from India

Mahalaya Paksha

Mahalaya Paksha is a period of 15 days when all our Pitrus (deceased ancestors) come together to our houses and accept our offering of Shraddha to them. Performing Mahalaya Shraddha assures gift of children, long, healthy and wealthy life to their lineage. Our Puranas shows that there are many merit-based possibilities of life after death. The best souls, on account of their deeds when living, attain mukti (no birth), the second best go to swarga (heaven) with all comforts, stay for some time after which they take another birth.

Others reach the pitru loka, which has a series of worlds within it offering varied comforts, experiences and treatments. These differences arise due to the fact of not just commissions of bad karma but also due to omissions of good karma. Unlike those in swarga, pitrus in this loka, receive food and water only through the shraddha that their descendants perform in the earth. Our Pitrus have expectations from us and we have obligations towards them.

Mahalaya Shraddha is hence, not optional but mandatory.

A few days are considered auspicious to perform shraddha, although they can be performed on other suitable days (please consult our priests for suitable days). These are Maha Bharani (Mahalaya Shraddha on this day confers the merit of Gaya Shraddha), Madhyashtami and Gajacchaya.

Annabhishekam

Annabhishekam is offered to Shiva on Tula (Aippasi) Purnima. Annam Parabrahma Swaroopam. On a Full moon night, the moon appears in full splendor and the fresh harvested rice is cooked and offered as an abhishekam to Shiva. Food that we eat is due to the extreme grace of the Lord and provides not just nourishment to the body but also promotes health mind.

A darshan of annabhishekam assures food for all beings. Each grain of rice is considered a Linga and this darshan becomes Koti Linga Darshan. Participating in the conduct of annabhishekam gives prosperity in this world and releases one from the cycles of birth and death. Sponsor and take the blessings of Lord Shiva at www.vedatemple.org/annabishekam

Nirai Pani Utsavam

Purnima in the month of Purattasi is celebrated as Nirai Pani Utsavam for Shakti. Shakhambari nourished the entire world by creating vegetation. She carries grains, vegetables and fruits and when one meditates on this form of Devi, he is assured of abundant food for his life.

Shankhabhishekam & Its Origin

Chandra, the Moon God, married Daksha Prajapati's 27 daughters (Stars) but had shown favoritism only to Rohini, which angered the others. Daksha cursed Chandra that his glow would wane. Chandra prayed to Shiva, who took pity on him and engulfed Chandra in his matted hair. Chandra poured forth his "Amritha Dhaara" on Shiva. Shiva was extremely pleased at this abhishekam of the cool waters of Chandra and promised that Chandra would gain his glow back every 15 days. Water poured in a shankha or the conch is supposed to be cool, like the showers of Chandra. Shastraas vouch for the fact that such a Shankhabhishekam cools Shiva and pleases Him. www.vedatemple.org/sankalpam.

Karthikai Deepam

Karthikai Deepam is celebrated on Purnima in the month of Karthika. This day is celebrated by lighting many lamps both at home and at the temple, to enable worms, insects, birds, trees, animals and all living beings witness the radiance of the lamps and help attain moksha. Kartika Purana states that the one who lights and witnesses the lighting of lamps at the temple gets rid of the "shadripu" or the six enemies and gets unlimited prosperity, wealth and moksha. Just as the wick in the oil lamps burns itself in the process of giving light, the festival serves as a reminder for us to sacrifice our interests in the welfare of others and eventually attain liberation. Of all danas, Deepa-Dana (lamp donation) in the month of Karthika is unique and removes Apaamrityubhaya or Akalamrityubhaya.

Please consider donation towards lamps at the temple: www.vedatemple.org/deepam

Skanda Shashti

The period from Asvyuja Amavasya to Shashti is celebrated as Skanda Shashti. In some cases if Shashti thithi starts before the sunsets of Panchami thithi, then Skanda Shashti is celebrated on Panchami.

Subramanya takes birth as the son of Shiva and Parvathi to kill the asura Soorapadma. The battle lasts for six days and on the last day, Subramanya pierces Soorapadma with his lance. The asura turns into a mango tree. Subramanya cuts the tree into two pieces. One piece gets transformed into a peacock and becomes the vahana (vehicle) of Subramanya and the other piece becomes a cock on his flag. A visual enactment of this divine act of "Soorasamharam", is a signature event of VEDA Temple, forms the highlight of the 6th day.

Deepavali and Fireworks

Deepavali is celebrated on Krishna Paksha Chathurdashi in the Aswayuja (Aippasi) month. It is believed that Lakshmi resides in sesame oil and Ganga resides in waters of all rivers in the early morning hours (before sunrise before the moon sets) of Chathurdashi and "Abhyanga Snana" (oil bath, called "Ganga Snana") at that time saves one from entering Yama Loka.

Our Shastras dictate us to hold the fire called "Ulka" (refers to the torch carrying fire – sparklers or fireworks) in our hands on Deepavali and on the next day, Amavasya. Pitrus who had come home during the Mahalaya Paksha, having received their food from their children are on their way to Swarga Loka and are guided in this journey by the light of the "Ulka". This is called Ulka Danam and is supposed to be lit in the Pradosha Kala of Deepavali and Amavasya. VEDA provides fireworks on both days.

In the evening hours of Deepavali, lighting lamps in a Shiva or Vishnu temple removes the fear of naraka. Another important aspect of Deepavali (which faded away in some parts of India) is the lighting of lamps outside the houses for three days starting from the day before Deepavali, on the day of Deepavali and the next day.

Ayyappa Mandala Pooja

Ayyappa Mandala Pooja begins in the month of Karthika and continues up to Makara Sankranthi. Devotees, upon initiation, undertake a fast for a period of 48 days, as an attempt to maintain external and internal purity. On Makara Sankranthi, the devotees prepare "Irumudi Kettu" or two bags, one of which contains offerings of coconut, ghee etc. for Lord Ayyappa and the other that contains personal belongings for the devotee's sustenance during his "yatra" to Sabarimala. This bag that contains his belongings represent the "Papams" and "Punyams", that he has accrued from countless births. As he exhausts the contents of these bags, he is believed to have exhausted all his karma. The other bag is offered to Lord Ayyappa and is supposed to assure the merge of the devotee with Lord Ayyappa.

Dhanur Masa Seva

The month of Dhanurmasa is very auspicious to Vishnu. This is the last month before the onset of Uttarayana.

This month is the Usha Kala (Brahma Muhurtha) of Devas. Lord Vishnu awakens from Yoganidra on the first day of this month. Our temple rituals for the entire month, begins with the sacred Tiruppalliyezhuchi and Andal's Tiruppavai. Worshipping Vishnu at the temple for a single day during this month yields the merits of worshipping Him with devotion for 1000 years and attain Vishnu Loka.

Lord Shiva is also worshipped at the temple with the chanting of Manikkavasagar's Tiruvempavai to invoke His blessings during the thirty days of Margazhi.
